"This friend had overheard part of a conversation between the ambassador and Granados, in which he said the ambassador had said that my brother and I were in fear of arrest Granados replied we had escaped his attention, but he would attend to our cases at once, and the order of arrest was issued.

"My friend hastened to me, gave me his purse and urged me to flee. I left Mexico City, disguised as a track labour, at 10 o'clock that night. My wife and babies were disguised. Thanks to a friendly train conductor, we made our way to Calina Cruz and embarked for San Francisco.

Colonel Alcalde says Mexico will know no peace for years.

"Diaz wants to be president," he asserted, "but Huerts will never quit the palace until he is driven out by successful revolutionists. He tolk MANY HOUSES UNROOFED biaz there will be no election until successful revolutionists. He tells OF BETRAYAL he has restored peace throughou! the country. Huerta has not the slightest intention of carrying out his pact with Diaz and the other conspirators."

Alcalde asserts that papers that have been smuggled out of Mexico will assist in proving his charges. These papers will reach him at Los Angeles, for which city he left today.
Colonel Alcalde described himself as an intimate friend of Madero. His mission in this country, he said, would be to expose the plot which brought about the Diaz uprising and the deaths of Madero and Suarez. Accompanied by his wife, two small children and his brother Joaquin, an army captain, Alcalde fled from

Were You Among the Fortunate Purchasers?

(By John P. Fallon.)

Yesterday a local merchant published a very important announcement in THE ADVOCATE, which enabled a number of people to effect a great saving.

Were you among the fortunate? This splendid opportunity was presented to all the readers of THE ADVOCATE but only those who have formed the habit of reading the advertisements closely and constantly every day were able to

There are similar opportunities presented in THE ADVO-CATE'S advertising columns every day. Today it may be a special sale of furniture. Tomerrow it may be an offering of Easter Suits. Every day new things are featured. Merchants tell you their most important store news.

So you see it pays to read THE ADVOCATE continuously. By doing so you will always be well informed regarding the new arrivals, the latest and most fashionable merchandise, and never miss an opportunity to save money.

Columbus, March 21—Suffering from theumatism and bearing his weight on two canes, ex-Senator George K. Cetone of Dayton entered the penitentiary at 8:35 last evening to serve his sentence of three years for accepting

He was taken to the hospital and after an examination, will be assigned to one of the wards until such time as he may sufficiently recover to warrant his removal. Cetone was accompanied to the penitentiary by Attorney R. N. Bumbaugh and Charles Kline of Dayton and Sheriff Resch of Franklin county.

The Dayton party arrived in Columbus vesterday afternoon at 5:47 o'clock. They left Dayton at 4:14 p. m. On arrival at the Union Station they were met by Sheriff Resch. The party went at once to the office of Belcher & Conner in the Ruggery Building.

Cetone entered the warden's office about 8 o'clock. He was closeted with his friends, the warden and W. L. Coning from the warden's office, the party separated in front of the iron gate which opens into the cell rooms.

"Goodby. I hope to see you later," were the words of parting uttered by the convicted man. He shook the hands of Mr. Brumbaugh of the firm of Brumbaugh & Mattern, his Dayton attorneys, and, turning to Mr. Kline, gave him a passioned parting. The Brigand Chief.

Not many years ago the highways of dangerous than football. Mexico and especially that of Guadalisva, were infested with brigands, who usually stopped all travelers whom they met. Whenever a conveyance entered the capital with the curtains removed it was taken for granted that the victim of the brigands bad taken them to use as a substitute for his own garments of which he had been deprived. The situation at length became unbearable, and, a daring rob bery having been committed, the authorities sent out troops to pursue the malefactors. The leader of the gang was captured, bound, placed on a mule and escorted to the city. The president sent for the chief of police. He

HEALTH HINT FOR TODAY.

Increased Weight at Middle Age.

The gain in weight that is so common between the ages of thirty-five and forty-five is never beneficial. As a rule, it is not an indication of improved nutrition, but of a weakening of the eliminating functions, which allows of the increase in weight. At this period the weight should be rather decreased than allowed to increase, especially in women, and this should be done by exercise rather than by change in diet. But if weight increases persistently the tendency should be overcome by fasting from two to ten days periodically. This will avoid many of the common diseases that appear at this time, especially in women, and obviate the necessity for many operations.

Spring and Its Message

ODAY, spring begins, according to the time-table of old Sol. In some places, it may not seem much like spring. Snow is on the ground, or the earth is sodden and soft. Trees are bare. Skies are gray. There is no hint of green things, no faintest sugcetton of bine above.

Yet spring begins today.

And because of this fact, like magic will a mantle of green be woven ever brown fields. Some morning, the trees will show little baby leaves | animal steps on them they pierce the dancing in the sun. The distant woods will take on a base of soft coloring Spring beauties will nod on delicate stems. The air will resound with the joyous calls of birds. And the soft airs and the awest access and the golden sunbeams will fairly reak at us in their glad announcing that apring is here.

And what a lovely season it is! No matter how much we may enjoy winter with its pure ermine mantle fringed with ice crystals, with its great brilliant stars in the still cold air of night, with its cory open-fires and surtained windows and soft lamplight, we welcome spring with wide-stretched trend on the grapple plant not only belching of t arms and a glad spirit, because it brings not only its own dainty loveliness. but also that which we all crave—change.

And when summer comes with its majestic beauty of maturity, and still warm days, and the drone of bees, and the scent of roses, we will rejoice in that just as gladly.

And ought we not to make in our hearts. If not in our home, a little featival of the coming of spring? Ought we not to acknowledge in some way, and recognize in our lives. the value of all this beauty about us, and the change in the face of nature that is given us every few months? For it does much for us, even though we may scarcely be conscious

The beauty of sky and flower and singing brook and tree that is spread so generously all about is a source of joy and an education of the senses in appreciating beauty.

The change, as one season slips quietly into another, is refreshment

And so today, as we look forward into spring, let us rejoice and be exceedingly giad in our hearts, if not more openly, that, no matter what our station in life may be, nothing can shut us out from enjoyment of the feast of beauty Nature is now making ready for us.

Fulminate of Mercury.

A peculiarity of fulminate of mercury is that it produces a shock to which all other substances are sensitive, and its supreme value as an explosing rests in this fact and in the known liability of all explosives to be detonated by more or less distant explosions. There is a current of sympathetic influence in these terrible chemical compositions that is as strange as it is dangerous. What is required to produce explosion is the rapid generation of great heat along with large quantities of oxygen. In gunpowder, for instance, the nitrate of potash (saltpeter), which is the chief ingredient, is practically imprisoned oxygen, and when it is decomposed along with | 4. charconi an immense heat is developed, which causes the gases to expand suddenly, hence explosion.

It is indeed rue that the United Doctors get no easy cases to cure. The failures of other doctors come to them and when sick people say that | the United Doctors have given them results where no one else has—the public can use its own judgment as to its truth—and right judgment shows it must be true. The following statement made for publication tells a story of one man's results in his search for a cure-or

Most of us, when we think of the meaning of "bargain," think first-and maybe last-of the price. That's why so many times when you see bargains mentioned, the price is strongly emphasized. A good many people seem to be unable to get by this price fact; it fills the mind and the eye.

But a moment's thought will tell you that the price is only a relative thing; it may look like a very low price and still be high according to what you get for the money. If you can buy $10 gold pieces at $9.75, buy all you can get; that's a bargain because you know exactly the value of what you buy; it's fixed and understood. (Try to buy some at the above price).

But you could, for instance, buy a horse for $50 or another for $150. The latter might be a bargain, while the former might be dear at $40. Depends on the horse,

Daddy's Bedtime Quarter Century Ago :

N the home of Jack and Evelyn and daddy and mother there hangs on the wall a picture of a very pretty little girl dressed in a quaint, old fashtoned costume and wearing a wide cap. Her hands are held together on her lap, and on the log on which she is sitting are some cherries. The name of the picture is "Cherry Ripe." It was painted by a famous English

Daddy told Evelyn and Jack one evening that when this painter was a little boy of eight he was taken by his mother from Southampton, England, where they lived to London to visit a great painter. The boy's mother wanted the painter to see some of her boy's sketches and tell her whether they were good enough to make it worth while to have the boy study to be a painter

"When they reached the studio of the great painter," daddy said, "the told him why she had come. The painter did not want to advise any to become a painter of pictures, for it requires many years of hard study and work. So be said to the lady:

"'Madam, you had better bring the boy up to be a chimney sweep." A chimney sweep, you may not know, youngsters, is a boy whose business it is to climb into chimneys and sweep the soot out with a broom. It is disagreeable, hard, dirty work.

"But the mother was not discouraged. 'Surely you will look at my son's drawings before you decide? she asked. The artist did not wish to hurt the lady's feelings, so he said he would look at them. When the package was opened he opened his eyes wide in surprise, the drawings were so good for a

" Madam, he said, it is your duty to bring this boy up to be a painter." "So Sir John Miliais began his career as a painter. At nine he earned a medal for drawing. When he got the medal he had to stand on a chair so the people could see the little fellow who had carried off the prize. He won honor after honor, greater than had ever before been earned by any other Euclish artist. He painted many pictures of children, for he loved children and had a large family of his own. Besides his pictures of children, he painted pic-

"In the course of time he became a member of the Royal academy, an honor which is held by only the best of artists, and later Millain was chosen to be the president of the academy. He died a few years ago. Many of his pictures are printed in cheap form, and they help to brighten homes not only in England, his own country, but also in America and Germany and France and many other lands."

Having accumulated some change. amounting to about $25, Paul negotiated with the ticket agent at Cambridge for a strip of ticket nearly a yard long, and with a well packed suit case he boarded the train. His was discovered about the time the train departed, but by the time the investigation had reached the passenger station, the train was well on its way to Newark and a telegram was sent to intercept the runaway.

When taken into custody by Captain Swank and Patrolman Sunkle, he seemed disappointed but his youth enabled him to take the situation philosophically and he talked interestingly of his plans. He is a bright youngster and proved highly entertaining to the officers who had him in custody pending the arrival of the officer from Cambridge.

Just before the westbound B. & O passenger departed from Cambridge. young Norris handed his companion a note, asking that It be delivered to his mother. The note read: "Dear Mother: Forgive me for doing this. Will write you when I make good."

WASTED FERTILITY.

Failure to Use Liquid Manure Means Throwing Away Money. The Horticulturist discusses the value of liquid manure. It says: We believe there is no system of enriching the land for small gardens, with a view to perfection of crops, so truly economical and so available as the use of liquid manure. We occasionally hear of a gardener or an amateur grower of some special crop that has practiced enriching with liquids, but it is only occasionally, yet the result of every record is in its favor, and a searching inquiry into extra production of fruit, flower or plant almost invariably gives watering with liquid manure as the cause. There is on almost every farm a waste of liquids, which usually go into the sewer drain or possibly upon the road, where they are of no avail, but which if saved by being conducted to a tank would enrich the entire garden of vegetables, small fruits, furnish stimulus to the rose and other flower borders and keep the grass plot green and fresh even in the hottest and driest of midsummer. The use of a little plaster occasionally thrown in and

The graft is made by cutting the stock off diagonally-one long smooth cut with a sharp knife, leaving about three-fourths of an inch of cut surface Place the knife about one-third of the distance from the end of the cut surface at right angles to the cut and split the stock in the direction of its long axis. Cut the lower end of the scion in like manner, and when the two parts are ferced together the cut surfaces will fit neatly together, and one will nearly cover the other if scion, and stock are of the same size. A difference may be disregarded unless it be too great. After the scion and stock have been locked together they should be wrapped with five or six turns of: waxed cotton to hold the parts firmly together. It is in root grafting that the whip graft finds its distinctive field.

ACROSS the ages shines the pitcous scene That stirs the sorrow of humanity, Caught and reflected on the canvas screen By Art, which is the glass of Mistory. But, lo, the grief is stilled! for once again This form divine, deprived of mortal breath, Shall rise resplendent and proclaim to men The triumph over death.

"It's wicked to keep shutters closed tight. I can't do it again," she breathed suddenly, and another line disappeared from her forehead.

After that day Artemesia Lee kept the shutters of her house wide open. Passersby saw it and marveled and said that Artemesia Lee was getting some sense, after all. Hanna Ford noticed it, too, and a queer little smile curled the corners of her pleasant mouth.

One day Josephine Ford ventured kito Artemesia's parlor and played topular tunes upon the tinkling piano. "Seems good to hear it once more," sighed Artemesia, who had not played for many years.

"Why don't you play some, Arteme sia?" asked pretty Josephine. "Ma says you used to be a grand player." Artemesia flushed prettlly. "I believe I will have the piano tuned and practice," she said, and a new pleasure came back into her life.

and together they set off to choose a hat frame. Artemesia forgot her own troubles and the latent discontent that had gnawed at her life.

She grew merry over the secrecy of the shopping, for this was to be a surprise to Josephine's mother.

Artemesia presented Josephine with a pair of new gloves, and the young girl's delight was very sweet to the older woman. Artemesia Lee forgot herself while she sewed on the new hat, which turned out so successful that she made one for herself, a shady brown affair that matched her soft

Washington. - A garrison of 25,000 men will be accusary to guard the Panama canal, says Colonel Conthete. its chief builder. Under premmt plans congress would provide for a garrison of only 8,000 men.

"Once we just control of the sea in a war," he said, "we would have to depend upon the garrison of the sone. We could not expect to get re-enforcements there from the United States. The locks, the vital portion of the canal, should be guarded by a large force, and the Atlantic and Pacific ends of the causi should be garrisoned At least 25,000 men would be needed to properly guard the canal."

His statement that the canal could hardly be held if the United States iest control of the sea aroused much interest in Washington.

United States Warships to Watch For les in Liner Lanes.

Washington.—Beginning about April 15, two fast ships of the United States navy will patrol the steamship lanes of the north Atlantic ocean for the purpose of discovering and warning ships of the presence of ice in the route of the liners. It was said at the navy department that the fast scout cruisers Salem and Birmingham probably will be chosen for this work. The patrol will be maintained as long as the icebergs drift into the path of the transatlantic steamships. The reports of the patrol ships will be sent out by wireless to vessels at sea and the naal hydrographic office in Washington Similar patrol was instituted last May, following the Titanic disaster. Data will be gathered regarding the movement of ice and means of detecting its presence at sea.

Los Angeles, Cal.-The Countess de Lasteyrie, who was Miss Constance Warren of New York and was married to the count a short time ago, arrived bere from Catalina with her husband very much out of sorts because here in the "wild and woolly" west she rouldn't wear men's trousers while hunting without attracting undue attention.

"I supposed," she said, "that there was a good deal of the frontier here in Flowers from her plants and spring the west, where civilization had not reached, but I am afraid I shall have to go elsewhere to find a place where to the sick and needy. Each day she I may wear men's clothes without being too conspicuous." She and the count will return to

Catalina and fish, hunt, boat, swim and golf for awhile, and then they will go No up into the Rocky mountains in Colotado with pack mules carrying their camp equipment and bunt.

The countess says she would go to Africa and bunt elephants but for ner fear of spiders.

The druggists whose names are given below are sbowing their confidence in this new treatment by offering it for sale in 25c, 50c and $1.00 jars, on thirty days With each package bought you are given a refund blank. If you do j not find Vicks better than anything you have ever used present this blank and Schenk had high total. to your druggist any time within 30 days from the date of purchase and your money will be promptly re-

This new preparation will appeal especially to mothers as it is entirely external and can be used with perfect safety on the youngest member of the

The treatment is the discovery of a North Carolina druggist who found how to combine Pine Tar. Thymol. Eucalyptol, Menthol, Camphor, etc., in the form of a salve by a special process so that when applied over the throat and chest the heat of the body would release the ingredients in the time the preparation is absorbed i through the skin.

After a night's application you hardly realize that you had a cold as the head is clear, phlegm loosened and soreness gone from the lungs. In cases of croup positive relief is assured in fifteen minutes. Sufferers from asthma, catarrh, bronchial tronbles, hoarseness, etc., will find this treatment remarkably effective.

Since Monday representatives from the factory have been organizing an promptly to the business entrusted to other of their famous clubs among him. Special attention given to colthe ladies of Newark and vicinity. Gleichauf's store has been the mecca for many women during the week and the limited fifty memberships are rapidly being taken. The club positively closes Saturday.

MRS. CHAS. W. IMLER.

Dr. W. G. Corne, the dentist, received a dispatch Friday morning, announcing the death of his sister, Mrs Charles W. Imler of Whisler, O., near Chillicothe. Dr. and Mrs. Corne and Dr. Corne's sister, Mrs. W. S. Seymour, will go to Whisler

The first hunt club organized in America was the Gloucester Fox Hunting club, formed by about 125 gentlemen of Philadelphia. The first meeting was held in December, 1766, in the old Philadelphia coffee bouse. Men who later became famous in the country's history were among its members. The Revolutionary war for a time put a stop to the sport, when Samuel Morris and twenty-one others of the club organized the First City troop. This old Gloucester club survived for fifty-two years, until 1818.-Argonaut.

MAKES RHEAUMATISM PROMPTLY DISAPEAR

Chronic, Crippled-up Sufferers Find Relief After Few Doses of New Remedy are Taken.

It is needless to suffer any longer with rheumatism, and be all crippled up and bent out of shape with its heart-wrenching pains, when you can surely avoid it. Rheumatism comes from weak, inactive kidneys, that fail to filter from the blood, the poisonous waste matter and uric acid; and it is useless to rub on liniments or take ordinary Fultor of the Common Pleas court remedies to relieve the pain This

RUNAWAY TEAM STOPPED BY A DARING YOUTH

The daring work of Guy Martin, a ad apparently 16 or 17 years, in stoping a runaway team in West Main treet Friday morning drew many compliments from the dozens of celestrians who witnessed his bravery. Martin climbed into the front seat of the wagon while the horses were dashing at full speed cast on Main street, between Thirds and Fourth, and as the team founded the comer at Timrd street, he builted the uses to a stop, drove back over the to le taken by the runaways and crited them over to the driver. The horses were hitched to Samuel In hoff's ice wagon. They were left the hug for a moment in North Fourth street between Church and boust and while left alone took tright at something and ran away

Turning the corner at Fourth and Vain streets the horses started east at I had gained considerable headway when Martin dashed from the sidewalk hear Emerson's corner and climbed

The cash box on the front seat tattled to the parement in front of the Albocate office and part of its contents was carried away by the centy wind "Billy" Murphy rescued the text and turned it over to the striver of the wagen later. Though many rigs were hitched along the streets covered by the runaway team, none of them were even grazed by the wild'y swaying vehicle

SMALLEST HORSE IN THE WORLD

Jim Broughton, MENDER OF SOLES, No. 6 Areade Anney, has on exhibition in the window of his store a mounted horse, the smallest in the world. This horse stands 22 inches high, weighed 50 lbs, when alive, and, although of miniature size, is perfectly formed. It died October last, being seven years of age at the time of death.

This mount is attracting considerable attention from the passers-by through the Arcade Annex, as well it
